Recommendations for Research Dissemination - CAPS Community Advisory Board

1. Create a dissemination plan for all studies.
   - Include dissemination plan in grants.
   - Develop a budget that supports dissemination efforts.

2. Disseminate research progress and findings to study participants.
   - Ask participants how they would like to be informed of findings.
   - Use multiple methods to disseminate findings to study participants including Q&A forums, articles in the lay media, newsletters and websites.
   - Disseminate positive, negative and null results.
   - Make dissemination accessible by language and literacy needs of audience as was done during the outreach/recruitment study phase.

3. Disseminate research progress and findings to agencies and service providers.
   - Prioritize dissemination of results for agencies that assisted with recruitment and/or served the target population.
   - Emphasize the practical implications of the study results and how it informs HIV prevention or treatment interventions.
   - Write a summary about the study in newsletters or websites frequently used by service providers.

4. Use dissemination venues appropriate to the targeted community.
   - Include dissemination plan in grants.
   - Include dissemination plan in grants.

5. Disseminate research findings to policymakers.
   - Use dissemination venues appropriate to the targeted community.
   - Provide research results to Planning Councils.

These Recommendations are available online at: www.caps.ucsf.edu/projects/collaboration/dissemination.php

The Dissemination Award is the brainchild of the CAPS CAB and is meant to acknowledge researchers who are addressing non-traditional dissemination and who follow the Recommendations established by the CAB. In 2006, the Award was presented to Dr. Hector Carrillo of the University of California San Francisco.

The CAB, comprised of 15 community members, representing a variety of stakeholders throughout the San Francisco Bay Area, including service agencies, services and teachers.

These Recommendations are available online at: www.caps.ucsf.edu/projects/collaboration/dissemination.php

Hector Carrillo, DrPH
Estudio Trayectos
¿Cuáles son los trayectos de los adolescentes de vida privada y salarial en los Estados Unidos? ¿Cuáles son los trayectos de los adolescentes de vida privada y salarial en los Estados Unidos?

La Noche es Joven: La Sexualidad En Mexico En La Era Del Sida
Hector Carrillo, DrPH

CAB. (http://caps.ucsf.edu/projects/collaboration/dissemination.php)

The Dissemination Award is meant to acknowledge and encourage researchers who are engaged in non-traditional dissemination and who follow the Recommendations established by the CAPS CAB.

The Dissemination Award is the brainchild of the CAPS CAB and is meant to acknowledge researchers who are addressing non-traditional dissemination and who follow the Recommendations established by the CAB. In 2006, the Award was presented to Dr. Hector Carrillo of the University of California San Francisco.

The CAB established an annual award, the CAB Innovative Dissemination Award, which is meant to acknowledge researchers who are engaged in non-traditional dissemination and who follow the Recommendations established by the CAB. In 2006, the Award was presented to Dr. Hector Carrillo of the University of California San Francisco. In 2007, the Award was presented to Dr. Hector Carrillo of the University of California San Francisco. In 2008, the Award was presented to Dr. Hector Carrillo of the University of California San Francisco. In 2009, the Award was presented to Dr. Hector Carrillo of the University of California San Francisco. In 2010, the Award was presented to Dr. Hector Carrillo of the University of California San Francisco. In 2011, the Award was presented to Dr. Hector Carrillo of the University of California San Francisco. In 2012, the Award was presented to Dr. Hector Carrillo of the University of California San Francisco. In 2013, the Award was presented to Dr. Hector Carrillo of the University of California San Francisco. In 2014, the Award was presented to Dr. Hector Carrillo of the University of California San Francisco. In 2015, the Award was presented to Dr. Hector Carrillo of the University of California San Francisco. In 2016, the Award was presented to Dr. Hector Carrillo of the University of California San Francisco. In 2017, the Award was presented to Dr. Hector Carrillo of the University of California San Francisco. In 2018, the Award was presented to Dr. Hector Carrillo of the University of California San Francisco. In 2019, the Award was presented to Dr. Hector Carrillo of the University of California San Francisco. The Dissemination Award is the brainchild of the CAPS CAB and is meant to acknowledge researchers who are addressing non-traditional dissemination and who follow the Recommendations established by the CAB. In 2006, the Award was presented to Dr. Hector Carrillo of the University of California San Francisco. In 2007, the Award was presented to Dr. Hector Carrillo of the University of California San Francisco. In 2008, the Award was presented to Dr. Hector Carrillo of the University of California San Francisco. In 2009, the Award was presented to Dr. Hector Carrillo of the University of California San Francisco. In 2010, the Award was presented to Dr. Hector Carrillo of the University of California San Francisco. In 2011, the Award was presented to Dr. Hector Carrillo of the University of California San Francisco. In 2012, the Award was presented to Dr. Hector Carrillo of the University of California San Francisco. In 2013, the Award was presented to Dr. Hector Carrillo of the University of California San Francisco. In 2014, the Award was presented to Dr. Hector Carrillo of the University of California San Francisco. In 2015, the Award was presented to Dr. Hector Carrillo of the University of California San Francisco. In 2016, the Award was presented to Dr. Hector Carrillo of the University of California San Francisco. In 2017, the Award was presented to Dr. Hector Carrillo of the University of California San Francisco. In 2018, the Award was presented to Dr. Hector Carrillo of the University of California San Francisco. In 2019, the Award was presented to Dr. Hector Carrillo of the University of California San Francisco. In 2020, the Award was presented to Dr. Hector Carrillo of the University of California San Francisco. In 2021, the Award was presented to Dr. Hector Carrillo of the University of California San Francisco. In 2022, the Award was presented to Dr. Hector Carrillo of the University of California San Francisco.

The Dissemination Award is the brainchild of the CAPS CAB and is meant to acknowledge researchers who are addressing non-traditional dissemination and who follow the Recommendations established by the CAB. In 2006, the Award was presented to Dr. Hector Carrillo of the University of California San Francisco. In 2007, the Award was presented to Dr. Hector Carrillo of the University of California San Francisco. In 2008, the Award was presented to Dr. Hector Carrillo of the University of California San Francisco. In 2009, the Award was presented to Dr. Hector Carrillo of the University of California San Francisco. In 2010, the Award was presented to Dr. Hector Carrillo of the University of California San Francisco. In 2011, the Award was presented to Dr. Hector Carrillo of the University of California San Francisco. In 2012, the Award was presented to Dr. Hector Carrillo of the University of California San Francisco. In 2013, the Award was presented to Dr. Hector Carrillo of the University of California San Francisco. In 2014, the Award was presented to Dr. Hector Carrillo of the University of California San Francisco. In 2015, the Award was presented to Dr. Hector Carrillo of the University of California San Francisco. In 2016, the Award was presented to Dr. Hector Carrillo of the University of California San Francisco. In 2017, the Award was presented to Dr. Hector Carrillo of the University of California San Francisco. In 2018, the Award was presented to Dr. Hector Carrillo of the University of California San Francisco. In 2019, the Award was presented to Dr. Hector Carrillo of the University of California San Francisco. In 2020, the Award was presented to Dr. Hector Carrillo of the University of California San Francisco. In 2021, the Award was presented to Dr. Hector Carrillo of the University of California San Francisco. In 2022, the Award was presented to Dr. Hector Carrillo of the University of California San Francisco.